Brown, of Va.," is guilty of gress the signature of "W G. Brown, of Va.," is guilty of gross misrepresentation. I, as pastor of a Baptist church, have neither power to grant to nor to withhold from members letters of dismission. Nor was I ever stoned out of any county in Virginia or out of any other place. Such a statement is as unkind to the colored people of Virginia as it is untrue in fact, malicious in spirit, and hurtful to the reputation and influence of its author. The truth is, I have no remembrance of ever seeing Mr. Brown, whoever that gentleman is, in our church, and have not taken issue with him on any subject. The gentleman's little story is a cunningly-devised myth, manufactured, I take it, for a purpose.
